FAIR COMMISSION TO PREPARE PLANS

Limited to Historical Exhibit at Panama by Act of Legislature.

WILL VISIT SAN FRANCISCO

Not Expected to Alter Vote to Reproduce Mount Vernon.

The Virginia Commission for the anama-Facilie Exposition, which has sen under fire recently for its choice Mount Vernon as the model for the State building at the big fair, will meet in the Governors office on Thursday at 2 o'clock to arrange with an architect for the drafting of plans for the building, and to determine other details of the Virginia exhibit. The commission is composed of Delegate W. W. Baker, of Chesterfield, chairman; Delegate John T. Lewis, of Mecklen-burg, and Senator Saxon W. Holt, of Newport News. Alexander Forward is secretary to the commission, riostile criticism has been directed against the commission since its de-termination several weeks ago to re-produce Mount Vernor at the Panama Exposition as the Virginia building. This action was criticized in several papers on the ground that such a structure would typify exclusively the historical past, rather than the pres-ent industrial life of the State, and would give exposition visitors no fair conception of the physical prosperity and resources of Virginia.

Exhibit Limited by Act. In reply, members of the commis-sion cite the act which created the commission and authorized the hibit at the fair. The act distinctly provides that the commission is to erect a "suitable building commensurate with the importance and dignity of the State of Virginia, sufficient properly to receive and entertain the officials and guests of the State of Virginia at the exposition, and sufficient for the proper exhibition of his-torical and other exhibits hereinafter provided for." That it was the purpose of the General Assembly to thorize a historical rather than an industrial exhibit, says the commissioners, is evident from the following section of the act:

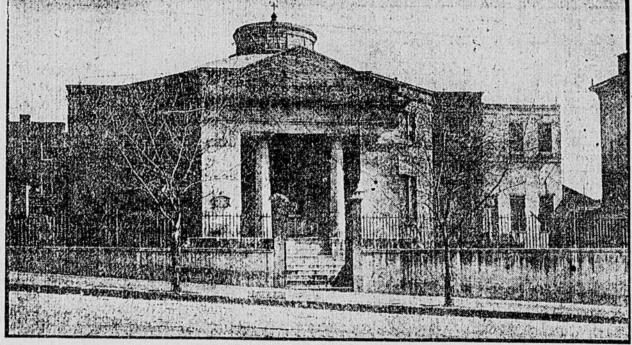

"Beautiful Assembly to authorize the Church founded a century ago as a memorial to the citizens who perished in Richmond's greatest

EXPECT FUNSTON TO BE AGGRESSIVE

Men on Transports Believe March to Mexico City Will Not Be Delayed.

BATTLESHIP ACTS AS CONVOY

Relieves Torpedo-Boats, Which, Fleet Gossip Says, Start Gunboat Hunting.

BY CHARLES MICHELSON. On Board the United States Dispatch Boat Bailey (Via Brownsville, Texas); April 26.—Whatever view may be entertained alsowhere, on board the transports proceeding to Vera Cruz and on the convoy, there is no opinion but that General Funston will immediately on landing proceed to march on Mexico City. The Bailey was among the transports all this afternoon. The officers will not admit the receipt of any orders calling for definite action but believe they are going to delay just long enough to allow the cavalry and artillery, which were supposed to rt from Galveston to-day, to catch before beginning definite opera-

The theory of aggressive action was borne out by another piece of military evidence. The torpedo boats Flusser, Preston and Reid, which started out to convoy the four transports, gave place yesterday to the big battleship Louis-lana, which came from Vera Cruz to relieve them, and the three torpedo boats shot away to the west orpedo boats shot away to the west, where, according to the gossip of the fleet, they are now gunboat hunting.

The Mexican gunboats Saragosa, Vera Cruz and Braws are supposed to be somewhere along the Northeast Mexican coast, with instructions to cut out the transports. The torpedo boats, by reason of their light draft, can Grandson of Preacher at Consecutive Congressman Calls Attention to probably hiding.
